DEDICATION

To our honored principal who has successfully raised the standard of our beloved school by his untiring efforts; to our faithful friend and teacher who has taught us the meaning of good citizenship; to him who has shown us every consideration and cheerfully aided us in overcoming many obstacles; we, the class of '37, do with sincerity and gratefulness dedicate this, our book, to—

To the Class of 1937:

It is with sincere appreciation and profound gratitude that I accept the dedication of the 1937 "Delaware".

There are many reasons to be justly proud of the honor you have conferred on me. During the six years we have worked together, you have proved yourselves to be ideal citizens and genuine scholars. You have helped to bring honor and glory to our school. You have seemed in a very real sense to be "my" class because of your keen co-operation in all activities.

My sincere wish is that the enthusiasm of your youth will be the triumph of your mature life.

Yours sincerely,
Marlin W. L. Boop

FOREWORD

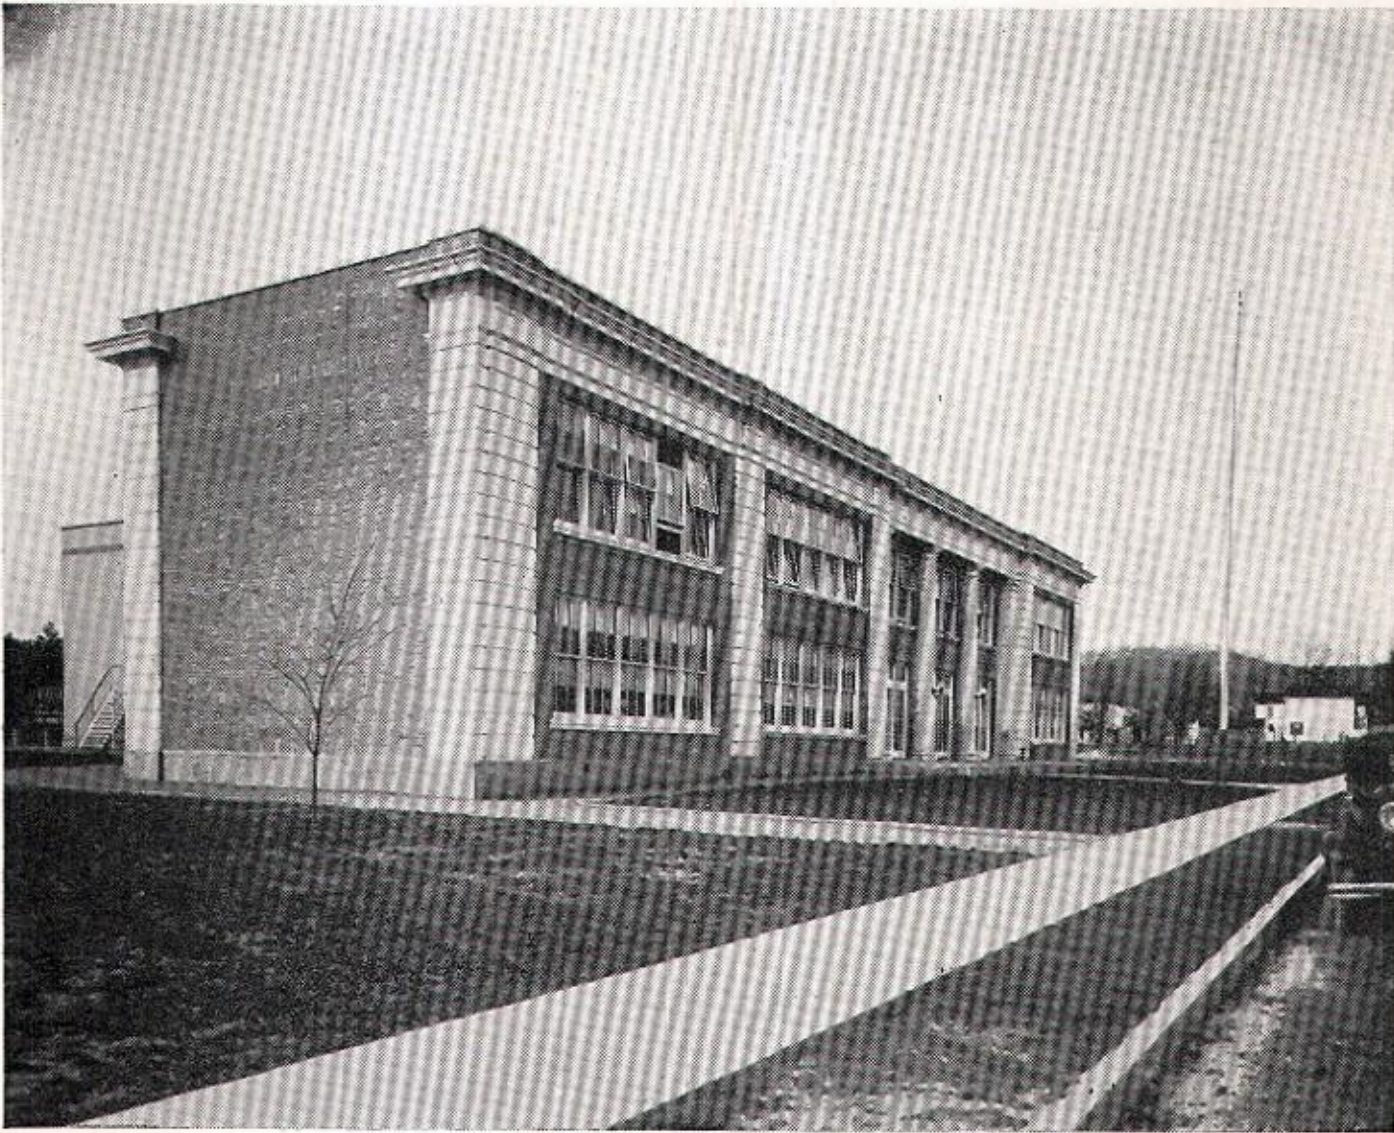

With the coming of graduation, we face life in a new and kinder light. We are prepared to meet the trials and hardships the world has in store for us. We have gleaned every piece of information at our disposal, in the event that in later years it may come to use.

We have striven to do our best, so that our memories will always be sweet when thinking of our Alma Mater. We have been in school for twelve years, yet the time seemed all too short to prepare ourselves for our lives which are ahead of us.

Then, to keep our memories forever intact and to remember school as the happiest part of our lives, we edit this Class Annual.

We have worked hard on this book, but our pleasure will come in looking it over in years to come; we hope that you have pleasure in reading it now.

Every Heart Beats True

DELAWARE

I know not how it is with you—
I love the first and last,
The whole field of the present view,
The whole flow of the past.

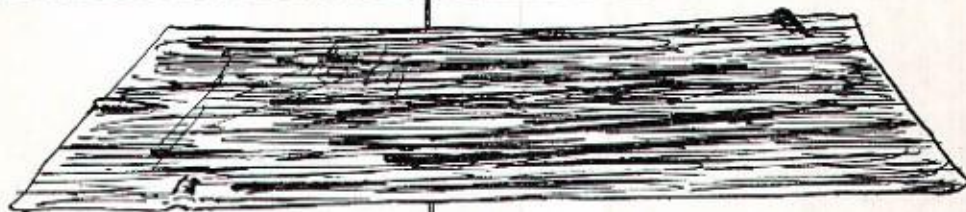

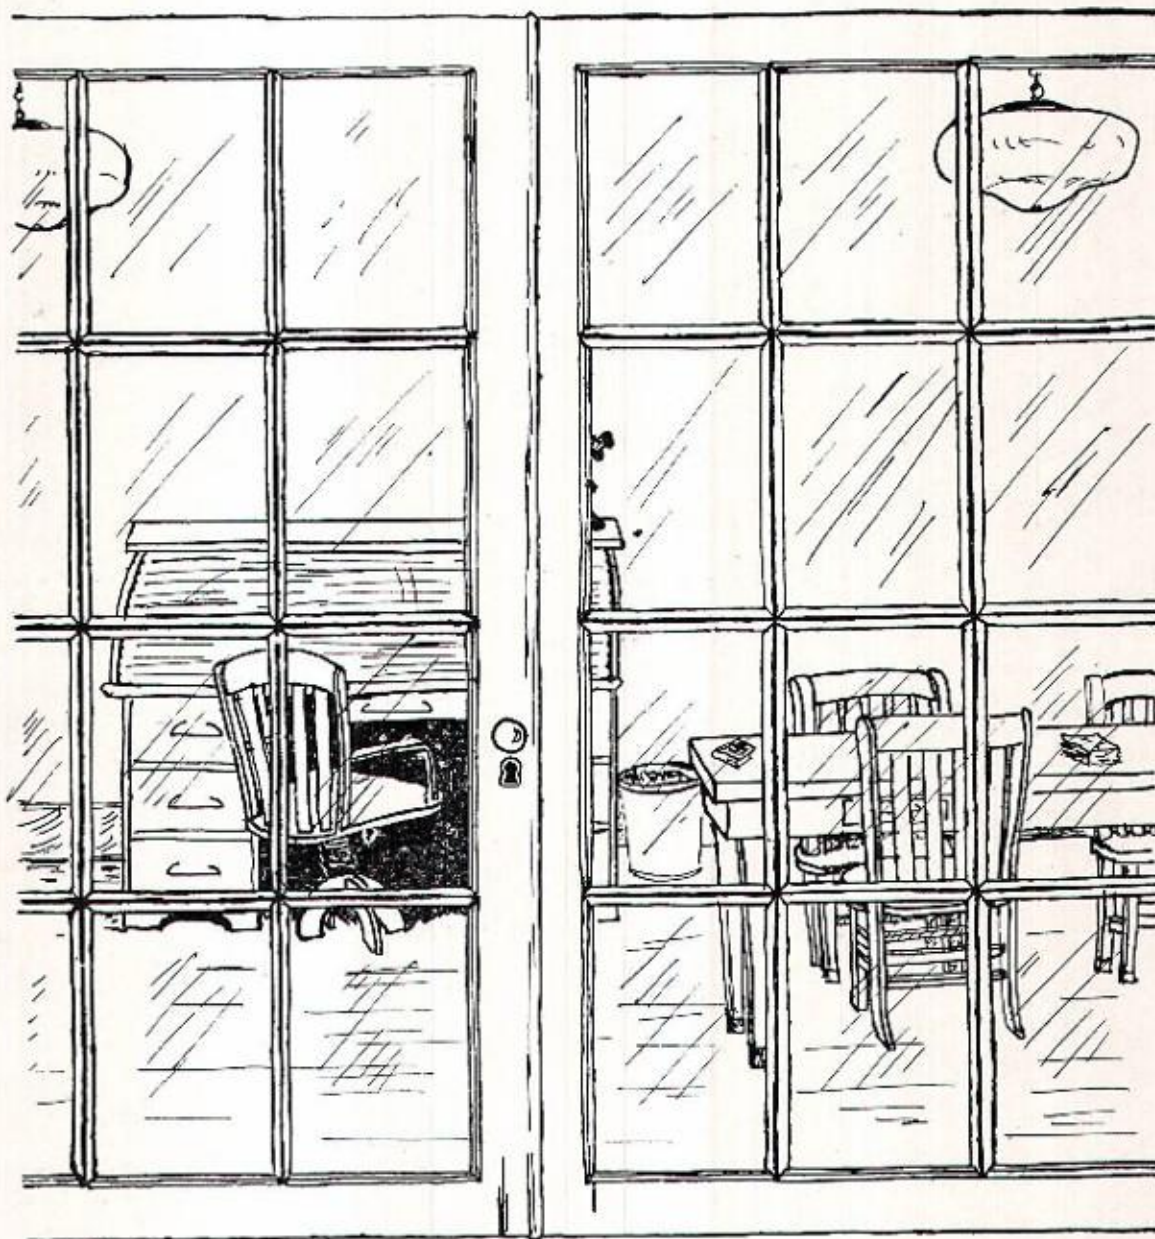

One title of the things that are
Nor you should change nor I—
One pebble in our path—one star
In all our heaven of sky.

Our lives, and every day and hour,
One symphony appear.
One road, one garden—every flower
And every bramble dear.

These men and this woman are of sterling quality, and we all may be proud of them and their interest in us. All through our school life, they have helped us, co-operating in every way possible. Progressive themselves, they have helped us, that we may also be progressive in the future. Sacrificing ever, they always carry on with earnestness and a noble purpose. We will never forget them.

Seated, left to right—Miss Hilda Newbaker, Miss Mae Abel, Miss Mable Rosencrans.

We, the Class of '37, are very proud indeed to have the picture of these teachers in our Annual. They have given us much support in the past and have helped us in our many strides to success. They have worked with us very diligently and deserve much credit for their work. No matter how much praise we try to give these teachers, we could hardly do them justice. As they have worked with us in the past, we are sure they will continue to work with the others in the future.

RALPH QUINCY GASSMAN

"Didn't we Art?"

"Buck"

Basketball '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, Baseball '35, '36, '37, Mgr. '36, Track '36, '37, Booklovers' Club, Public Speaking Club, Journalism Club, Cast of "200 Riders," "Drums of Death," President of Class '37, Member of A. A. '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, A. A. Play.

Introducing our very popular class president, Ralph.

"Buck" is a natural leader. If it's class activities or athletics, one will always find "Buck" at the top.

Much credit must be given to Ralph for winning many of our basketball games, because when a basketball game is thrilling the crowd, one will find Ralph on the court with fight in his every action.

Our "Buck" has a great personality with the "Gals." We are told that Ralph is escorting a "sweet young maiden" who lives at 217 West Main Street, West End, but his heart is in Texas with Virginia.

But athletics and other activities do not dim Ralph's class record. His scholastic attainment is to be envied by all.

"Buck" joined the ranks of our class in sixth grade and has made himself a very active member in all activities since that time.

Well, "Buck" is going to West Point, so all we can say is, "If your school work is a criterion for your further training, we know you will make good."

DELAWARE

THELMA MAUDE ADAMS

- "I don't know"

- "Thelm"

Basketball '34, '35, Basketball Mgr. '35, '36, '37, Cast of "Two Hundred Riders," "Drums of Death," Booklovers Club, Quilting Club, President of Music Club, Journalism Club.

"Do you want a piece of fudge?" These words coming from this charming lassie are indeed welcome ones, for "Thelm" has the reputation of being the best fudge maker this side of the Rockies.

Her candy making is not the only cause for admiration. A girl of simplicity, understanding, and fondness, Thelma ranks high on the list of those liked best by everyone.

Her efficiency has been proven throughout the year by her successful management of the Girls' Basketball Team. Not only has she ability to manage, but also unlimited ability to act, which was readily shown in her roles in both our Junior and Senior play successes.

So, with all these qualities, even though she has not decided what she will take up, "Thelm" is sure to succeed, and we wish her all the luck in the world.

TURNER LEWIS BLACKMAN

- "I've got a new one"

- "Butch"

Cast of "Paints and Patches," "The Wing Wong Jar," "Two Hundred Riders," "Submerged," Curio Club, Chess Club, Journalism Club, Track '36, '37, Capt. '37, A. A. Member '34, '35, '36, '37.

Introducing to you, the strong man and the super-human fictionwriter of the Senior Class, Turner Lewis Blackman, and please note the Lewis, because "Butch" would rather be called Lewis than anything else; why, no one knows.

"Butch" is also a track man par excellence. Proof of his prowess is shown in that he was elected Track Captain for the '37 season. His equal in the half mile has not been seen in many a day.

Turner stars in other things besides track. His unbiased opinion is always sought in Home Room Meetings and very often decides the issue.

No one in the class has worked harder in making a success of things than Turner Lewis. It has been said by some that T. L. is worth two ordinary men when it comes to hard work.

Girls have not played an important part in Turner's life, but we notice he goes to White Lake a little more often than necessary in business. Turner's ambition is to be a Highway Patrolman; and with his honesty and efficiency, we know he will succeed in any undertaking.

*Best of Luck
Turner*

MARJORIE ARLINE BLOOM

"Hey Dopo"

"Marge"

*May your life
be a success
always Marge*

Cast of "White Glory," "Drums of Death,"
A. A. '34, '35, '36, '37, Camp Cookery
Secretary, Book Lovers' Club, Puppet
Club President, Journalism Club '36, '37.

With a cheery smile, our "Marge" appears on the scene. You can see that her personality fairly "shines" from the picture. And this personality combined with a desire to co-operate with everyone, has won her a host of friends.

That host of friends of course includes a great many of the "stronger sex." Many a fellow is literally "weak in the knees" when he asks this young Juliet to dance, and believe us, she can dance. A certain young Ford driver protects her from the run of the crowd, however, so she has nothing to fear.

"Marge's" dramatic ability is also well appreciated by the Senior Class, this appreciation being well deserved, for she was the heroine in both our Junior and Senior plays.

For the future "Marge" has chosen to be a beautician, but we know that whatever task she undertakes, she will succeed.

JAMES DOYLE MARTIN DEEGAN

"Aw, you can do it"

"Irish"

Baseball '34, '35, '36, Capt. '37, Track '35, '36, '37, Capt. '35, '36, Vice-President of Class '37, Secretary of A. A., Cast of "Submerged," "White Glory," Journalism Club '36, '37, Member of Athletic Council, A. A. Member '34, '35, '36, '37.

"Strike three! Batter's out!" yells the umpire. A shout of victory goes up from the Matamoras section, as "Jim" comes off the field, smiling victoriously, and who wouldn't after just having pitched a no-hit game for the first time in the history of our school. This was "Jim's" achievement.

And so "Jim" has pitched against and pitched into any task or obstacle set before him in the years we have known him; not grudgingly, but with that pleasant smile that is a part of him.

On the track, he can truly be called a flash. He can run the 880 or mile with the best and always ends a race with a heartbreaking finish.

While "Jim" is a quiet and shy lad, still many a feminine heart beats faster when he gives the famous Deegan whistle; and how they thrill when he lifts his Irish voice in song.

With his steady nerves, famous smile, and cheery whistle, "Jim" is sure to succeed in this game called "Life."

ARNOLD JAMES HAMILTON

"Her Did"

"Beef"

Basketball '35, '36, Capt. '36, '37, Cast of "Land of Cotton," "200 Riders," "White Glory," "Paints and Patches," "Wing Wong Jar," Track '34, '35, President of Class '35, '36, President of A. A. '36, '37, Member of A. A. '34, '35, '36, '37, Camera Club '34, '35, Journalism '35, '36, '37.

Make way for our two hundred pound center and captain of the basketball team—"Beef" Hamilton, a great singer, actor and athlete, but the best of all, a great guy.

His leadership of the team has added many victories to M. H. S., and his ability as a player can be proved by the fact that he led the team in scoring for the year. However, there were remarks that he desired to help a girl manage their team.

"Beef" has also been a leader in our class as well as a leader in the basketball team. His volunteered service to activities have always been welcomed by every member of the class.

"Beef," though a very busy Senior, can always find time to smile, so with his jolly personality and ability to accomplish, his success after graduation is assured.

EUGENIA JOHNSON

"You don't know from nothin"

"Jean"

Quilting Club, Music Club, Cast of "Two Hundred Riders," Journalism Club.

With a screech of brakes and a roar of the motor, a big red truck draws to a stop. Out steps Eugenia. Eugenia hasn't gone in for that thing called love, but recently she seems to have been playing with cupid.

"Jean" has been called the queen of Typing and Shorthand of M. H. S., and very rightly too. It has been said that Jean's hobby is getting her homework done, and her high marks seem to verify this. As a result, she is accepted most graciously by all the members of the faculty.

Eugenia proved her ability as an actress, when she so excellently portrayed that hardy pioneer woman, Mrs. Sam Tracey, in the cast of "Two Hundred Riders."

We don't know what Eugenia is likely to undertake after Commencement, but we do know that she would make a wonderful housewife for some young "Rob Roy."

ARTHUR FRANCIS LOUX

"I don't know"

"Frank"

Basketball '34, '35, '36, '37, Baseball '35, '36, '37, Track '35, '36, '37, Orchestra '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, Cast of "Two Hundred Riders" second place in Forensic and Music League, 1936 Glee Club '36, '37, Book Lovers' Club '32, '33, '34, Popular Science Club '34, '35, Chess Club '36, '37.

The sweet strains of violin music tells us that Frank is running his nimble fingers over the strings of his beloved "fiddle." Proof that Frank is really a very good violinist lies in the fact that for two successive years, he has journeyed to Bloomsburg and has both times placed second in the Forensic League.

Like all professors of music, he is quiet and reserved. He never bothers with g.r.s. but we think that down deep in his heart smolders an ember of love.

"Louxy" is also an athlete of renown. His equal as first baseman on the varsity nine has not been found, and as a pole vaulter, he ranks "tops."

Frank is a handy man to have around. In scholastic work, he ranks among the leaders of the class.

Not being sure of what Frank is going to do in later life, we hope he "fiddles" his way to success.

DONALD THEODORE MALTBY

"Aw, the heck with it"

"Doc"

Secretary of Class '34, '35, '36, '37, Mgr. of Basketball '36, '37, Cast of "White Glory," Basketball '34, '35, Curio Club, Book Lovers' Club, Journalism Club, Member of A. A. '34, '35, '36, '37.

"The minutes will now be read by the class secretary." For the last four years, these words have been Don's introduction every other Thursday at home room meetings. Always neat and methodical, the minutes still have a certain humor to them because of Don's ready wit.

The saying that a busy person can always find time to do a little more holds true with Donald. Not only has he been class secretary, worked in Keiter's in his spare time, and done very creditable school work, but he also has done a very fine job of being basketball manager.

He knows how much we appreciate all he has done for our class and that he has the best wishes of every one of us for his future. Whatever he chooses for his life work, we know will be done well in Don's usual dependable way.

IDA MARY PETITO

"Where ya goin'?"

"Teto"

Book Lovers' Club '33, '34, Quilting Club '34, '35, Music Club Sec. and Treas. '35, '36, Sec. Book Lovers' Club '36, '37, A. A. Member '33, '34, '36, '37.

We now present to you one of the quiet members of the class. Through the years she has been with us, she has co-operated with her utmost ability and has never shirked her duty.

Ida isn't very big, but what there is of her is all charming personality, and with this to her advantage, she makes many friends. Don't think that she is one of these "goody-goody" girls however, for Ida has a knack of chewing gum in classes and getting away with it, how, we'd all like to know.

Although Ida has not participated in athletics, she has always been an interested spectator and never fails to cheer our team on.

Recently, often times, she can be seen riding around in the vicinity of Milford in a Plymouth, and she claims she prefers the Arm(strong) of the opposite sex.

Ida has proved capable in the commercial field, and who knows—perhaps she will be a great business woman. But whatever Ida does, we know she will top all of her past successes.

MARILYN FRANCES RIGGS

"Oh Darn It"

"Dutch"

gives a quick look will give you a look

Booklovers' Club, Cookery Club, Puppet Club Treasurer '35, '36, Journalism Club '36, '37, Cast of "Two Hundred Riders," Cast of "Drums of Death," A. A. Member '36, '37.

Who always has a smile for everyone? Who goes with an Alumnus "Dick"? No one else but our own "Dutch." Marilyn, besides having a pleasing personality, is a hard worker. She very seldom, if ever, comes to class with her lesson unprepared, and no little amount of credit is due her for the success of many of the class undertakings.

Also, Marilyn is an actress of no little renown. The memory of her superb acting as "Ann," in "Two Hundred Riders" will live on forever in the minds of those who saw the play. And her swell portrayal of "Lucy," the spoiled child in "Drums of Death," helped to insure the success of the play.

Although Marilyn has hopes of going to a business school after graduation, we still think that she would make a swell little wife for a certain clerk of Simpson's Food Store.

HELEN ANNE RUSK

Oh I did not!"Rusty"

East Stroudsburg High School '33-'36, Journalism Club '36, '37, A. A. Member '36, '37, Cast of "Drums of Death."

Gentlemen prefer brunettes! And how easily this statement was proven when "Rusty," our gift from Stroudsburg, entered the Senior Class. Her charm and ready smile immediately won for her the respect and admiration of her classmates.

Although she only entered our class at the beginning of the year, she was selected to take part in our first play of the year, "Drums of Death," in which she proved herself very capable of the responsibility.

Even though Helen does not participate in athletics herself, she is a great booster of our school, always ready to cheer our teams on to victory. However, we have heard recently that Helen also cheers Port Jervis High. We wonder why? ? ?

Always laughing, Helen is a center of attraction. May she be a center of attraction all her life.

BEATRICE SCHNEIDER - "Do you want to make something of it - 'Beatie'"

Booklovers' Club '33, '34, '36, '37, Quilting Club Vice-President '34, '35, Music Club Vice-President '35, '36, A. A. Member '36.

Let us present "Beatie", our vivacious, charming brunette, who is known by all for her pep, vim, and vigor. There is one unfailing remedy for the blues everyone seems to have on Monday morning. Yes, the remedy is "Beatie's" infectious smile, for when "Beatie" smiles, the whole class smiles with her.

We have been wondering why our brunette makes so many trips to Newton. Possibly she has relatives there, but we venture to guess that her object is not a relative but a prospective one.

Beatrice has signified her intention of following in the footsteps of Florence Nightingale. We know that her sunny disposition and grace will be great assets to the nursing profession.

EDWIN B. STRAIT

"Git"

"Ed"

Cast of "Paints and Patches," "Submerged," "Drums of Death," A. A. Play, Track '36, '37, Book Lovers' Club, Public Speaking Club, Journalism Club, Assistant Editor of Annual.

"The lawyer for the defence may state his case," and up steps Edwin B. Strait to speak in that clear, ringing voice which has made him the best public speaker ever to trod the Halls of Matamoras High. But "Ed" is also a superb actor. As the coward in "Submerged" and as the old fashioned father in "Drums of Death," he gave thrilling performances.

As a trackman, he is par excellent. Winning several track meets and stepping off the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds is no trick whatever for him.

No class activity is complete without "Ed." His willingness to work and his ability along all lines will not be forgotten by any of his classmates.

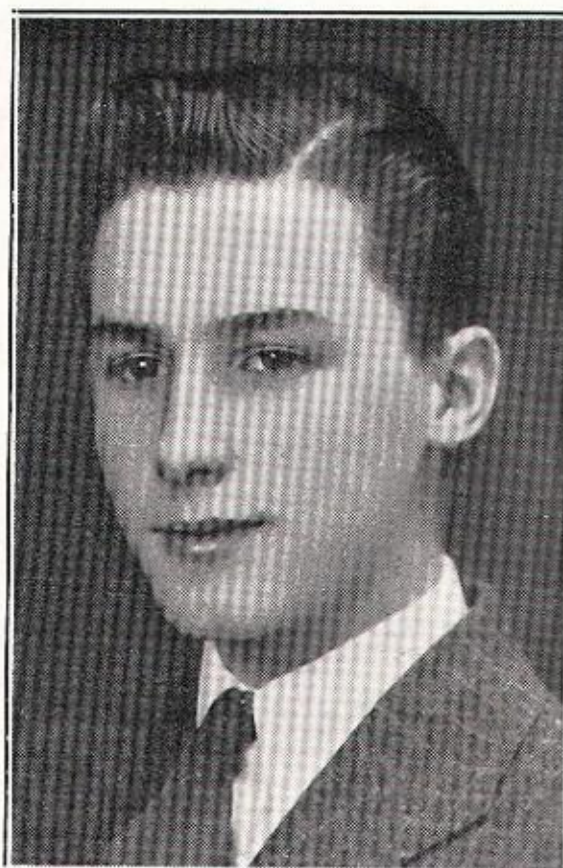

"Straity" has shown his managing ability by his capable work as Assistant Editor of the Year Book.

"Ed's" ambition is to be a famous criminal lawyer. The Class of '37 wishes you luck, "Ed," in talking your way to glory.

ROBERT STRUTHERS

"Skip it"

"Bob"

Milford High School '32-'34, Member of A. A. '34, '37, Cast of "Submerged," Member of Glee Club. Public Speaking Club, Journalism Club, Senior Class Reporter, Track '35, '36, '37.

It is now a few seconds before nine, the study hall door opens, and in rushes "Bob", who is always trying to see how close he can come to being late.

"Bob of the dancing feet" is what he really should be called, as our dapper little "Bob" can surely dance. Don't get the impression that is all he does however. "Bob" has always been ready to help in any of our school activities.

"Bob" is of the happy-go-lucky type, with a very pleasing personality. This personality of "Bob's" has won him a score of friends and has broken many hearts.

We don't know what he has chosen for his life work, but whatever it will be, with his courage and appearance, he will become an effective worker and leader.

1937

To a swell friend
Arthur

ARTHUR AMBROSE THEODORE - "Come on, Das" - "Muscle Man"

Baseball '35, '36, '37, Basketball '36, '37, A. A. '34, '35, '36, '37, Cast of "Submerged," "Drums of Death," Puppet Club, Nature Study Club, Book Lovers' Club, Public Speaking Club, Journalism Club.

Introducing to you that character of many activities, "Muscle Man" Theodore. "Art" is an athlete, scholar, actor, and lover all rolled up in one.

His athletic ability is proved in that "Art" is the only three letter man in the class. His last minute shot on the basketball court or his timely hit on the diamond has decided the outcome of many a game.

But not only is "Art" athletically inclined, as a scholar, he is hard to beat. More than once his advice has been sought on important questions.

In the past, "Muscle" has had no time for girls, but a short time ago he was bitten by the love bug, and since then he has been seen making regular trips to West End. But then, "Art" always did prefer "Dots" to dashes.

We don't know what "Art" plans to do, although there is a rumor that he will pace an orchestra as "Wizard of the Ivories." In case he does, watch out, Guy Lombardo.

PAULINE JULIA TOUSSAINT - "No Kiddin'" - "Giggles"

Remember Solid
I'll never forget
it. Best of luck
Pauline

Cast of "Two Hundred Riders," "Drums of Death," Editor-in-Chief of Year Book, Editor of Journal, Public Speaking Club, Treasurer '35, '36, Quilting Club Treasurer '34, '35, Treasurer of Class '37, A. A. Member '35, '37, Book Lovers' Club, A. A. Play, Cast of Patchwork Quilt.

May we have the pleasure of presenting "Giggles," the baby of the Class. This blushing young maiden joined our class in sixth grade and since then has been one of our most ardent workers.

Pauline is undoubtedly one of the best character actresses ever to appear on the Matamoras stage. Her acting ability has made many a play a success.

No school function would be complete without Julia. Her untiring efforts have given her the two most responsible jobs in the class, Treasurer of the Class, and Editor-in-Chief of the Year Book.

While "Giggle's" activities are varied, her outstanding feat is that of student. She has paced the class in scholastics during all the years in High School.

Pauline's ambition is to be a school teacher, and we know she would make a "dandy," but we are afraid that a certain young Studebaker driver has stolen her heart away. Here's wishing you luck anyway, Pauline.

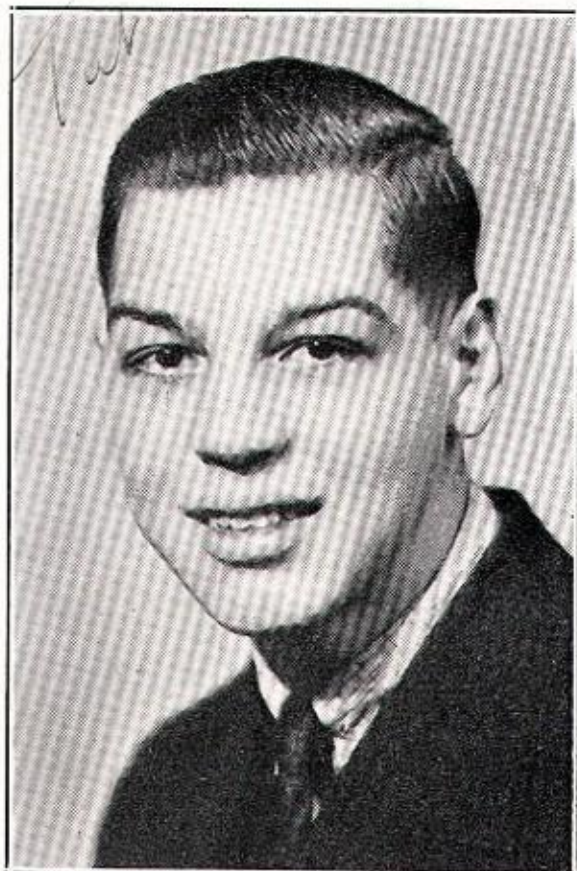

DELAWARE

Lots of luck to a swell guy.

EDWARD GEORGE TUTHILL

"My! My!"

"Tut"

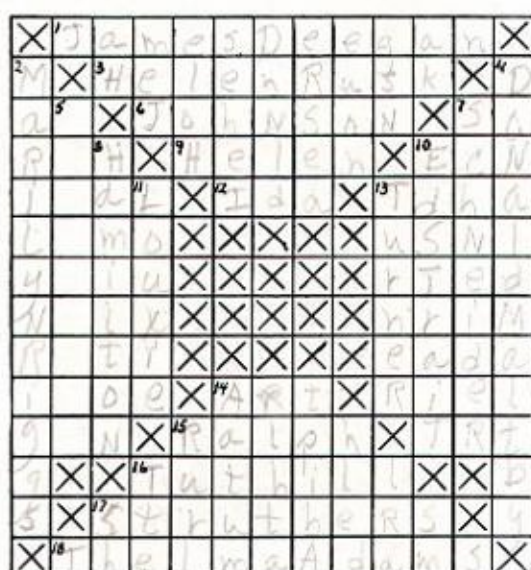

Baseball '34, '35, '36, '37, Track '35, '37, Popular Science Club '33, '35, Journalism Club '25, '37, Stage Manager "Two Hundred Riders," "White Glory," and "Submerged," Cast of "Drums of Death," Business Manager of Annual.

Behold! A Senior that is really dignified confronts you. Science, Chemistry, Biology, and Photography are only a few of Ed's favorite pastimes.

There are few people who shine in scholastic activities as well as athletics, but "Tut" is one of the few. His ability as a baseball player was proven in 1936 when he led the nine in batting. "Tut" has also been a member of the track team the past three years. His nimble legs have added new laurels to the school.

In class activities "Tut" has played another leading role. He is always ready to lend a helping hand, and his value of the dollar has earned him the responsible position as Business Manager of the Class Book.

After graduation "Tut" is going to enter the field of engineering. As he has engineered many of our class projects, we are confident that his future success is assured.

At last our rise to supremacy has been completed. We are through being taunted and teased and merely being the dirt under the feet of the upper classmen. We are about to become high and haughty Seniors, the uppermost of the upper classmen. In this capacity, we are to become the leaders of the student body, and it is by our splendid examples that the lower classmen are to profit.

Although we can not claim the outstanding scholars, some of our students are repeatedly on the honor roll. Surely we cannot overlook the contributions of our class to the athletic teams. Our class rolls contain the names of a host of stars and three captains for next year's teams.

Our Junior year has been a great financial success. Mr. Krause has proved his ability as a home room teacher and class advisor, and we will take this opportunity to thank him for guiding us through the most successful year we have ever enjoyed.

In the early part of the year, we raffled off a ton of coal, and it was won by Rev. Meyer of Port Jervis. Later in the year we put on a play, "Stray Cats." Here again, Mr. Krause proved his ability as a play director. He was ably assisted in this by Mr. William Sadler, from the Milford office of the W.P.A.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the public for the splendid way in which they have co-operated with us in making our play and raffle successes.

As this year ends, it is our sincere hope that the successes of this year will continue throughout next year until we have closed our books for the last time and looked out into an uncertain future.

Sophomore News

Hello, Folks! This is the Sophomore News Reporter bringing to you the highlights of the class accomplishments for the '36-'37 school year.

The Class of '39 came marching in the first day of school to find Mr. Clark waiting at the gate. He has been there ever since, and out of the thirty-eight sheep he was obliged to tend at the beginning of the year, thirty-eight still remain in the fold.

Their first opportunity came in the form of two Seniors knocking on the door one day. It seems that the Juniors didn't want the concessions, and it was inquired if the Sophomores did. Nobody objected; everybody agreed; so the concessions of the '36-'37 season became the property of the Class of '39.

A while later the idea of a play reared its head above the litter of minor business. This was something new. As a rule, Sophomores do not produce plays, but this was one class that did. "Forever True" was a success, both in the way of entertainment and finance.

As plays seemed to be popular, the A. A. also decided to try its luck. "The Goodtime Jubilee," a merry combination of about everything under the sun, was scheduled to be given. As a reward for selling the most tickets, a banner was to be presented to the class which won. Upon hearing this, the Sophs buzzed around town, canvassed the houses and posted guards on the street corners. Mr. Clark stood behind and pushed them now and then. As a result, they won the banner. It is done in maroon and steel and is well worth the work.

Near the close of the basketball season, someone suggested novelties. You probably know the rest. The remaining games were one big noise—clanging bells and exploding balloons—and to top it off, the local Indians were dancing about with red and blue feathers in their hair.

But the season has not passed without its tragedy. The flood disaster of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys left many thousands of people homeless and starving. To aid them, the Sophomore Class gave ten dollars to the Red Cross, by a nearly unanimous vote of the pupils.

These items, folks, are the highlights of the Sophomore News for this year, and so, until you open the pages of the 1937-38 "Delaware," the Junior Class-to-be bids you, "Adieu."

Freshman Class

On September 8th, the Freshman Class decided to hook their trailer on to Mr. Heberlig's car for the long journey of school days ahead. To keep things in order, the class elected the following officers:

President	Jack Bullock
Vice-President	Helen Shewchuck
Secretary	Eleanor Allen
Treasurer	Shirley Kelder

Of course gas was needed to run the car, so pencils were obtained and sold in the villages as we passed through.

The miles passed by very quickly in our trailer, and the halfway mark was reached. At this point every one was examined; the results being very good.

It was then time to give our loyal office holders a rest, so the following took office: Jack Bullock, Joseph Martin, Margaret Schroeder, and William McDonald.

The class then got together and decided to paint our trailer with the outstanding colors of blue and steele. It looked like new, so we christened our trailer "Plus Ultra" meaning (More Beyond).

We soon met other trailers who were forming basketball teams. Many of our Freshmen tried out for this sport, and a few girls made the varsity team.

One member was left off on the way, so now our trailer has thirty-nine instead of the original forty persons occupying it. It is our hope that when we reach our final destination there will still be thirty-nine to graduate in 1940.

Eighth Grade Class History

On September 3rd, 1936, we began the eighth lap of our race through school. Four more laps and the race will be won.

Forty-two contestants entered the race at the beginning of the year under the leadership of Miss Brosnan and Mr. Thompson, but now there are but thirty-eight to finish.

The group progressed well with their candy sales and assembly programs.

In the middle of the lap the class discovered that they could not very well finish the race without taking mid-year examinations. After the class had successfully won over the tense examinations, they were suddenly notified by the judges that they must take the Eighth Grade County Test before going any further.

A few moments later, the judges handed each contestant a card which had on it the letters A, B, C, D, and E, to show their rank in the race.

There was only a half mile left, and each contestant hastened his pace in order to get every step of their work finished by the end of the lap.

There was only one task left, the year examinations, all were passed and everyone rejoiced over finishing the eighth year lap.

All contestants are prepared for their ninth race next year.

Basketball

Early in November, 1936, the first call for basketball men could be seen on all the bulletin boards throughout the school. In answer to that call came thirty determined youths of M. H. S., with but one object in mind, which was to make the team. After constant practice, many achieved their desire.

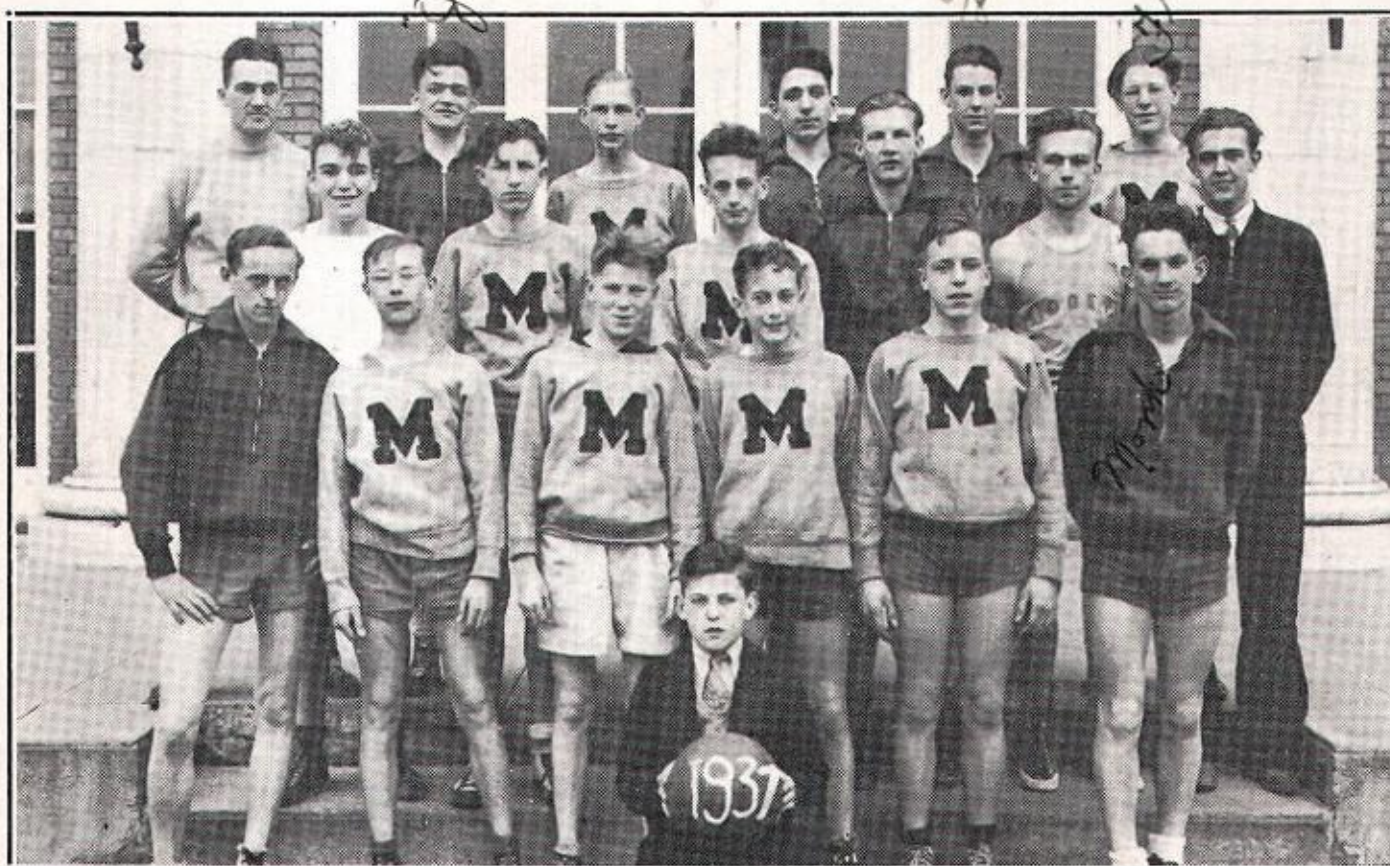

Much credit for the success of the team must go to Coach Thompson who for many weeks labored tirelessly with his material, developing them into a fighting team. Credit must also be extended to "Beef" Hamilton, captain of the squad and high scorer for the season. His leadership on the floor was the winning factor in many games.

The team with such able leaders to direct them could not help but respond to their instructions. Displaying a brand of fighting spirit and true sportsmanship throughout the games, the Matamoras lads soon won a reputation for themselves and their school. The balconies for the first time in many years echoed and re-echoed with the ringing cheers of howling fans, while on the floor below a fighting Red and Blue team battled for victory.

Throughout the year much enthusiasm was shown at all the games. The Matamoras student body proved to be a great asset to the team. Their splendid support and co-operation with the team shall always be remembered by the players and the coach.

Though the team will lose five of its Senior members by graduation, next year's prospects look bright with such stars as Gordon, D. Hamilton, Bond, Finlay, Dilger, Purcell, Blackman, Youngs, Clarke, Caliacco, Mager, and "Buck" Georgi to choose from. "Buck", who has proved himself worthy of the honor, has been elected captain of next year's squad.

The first game of the season, the Damascus game, was perhaps the most thrilling game ever witnessed on the local court. Three extra periods were needed before our team was declared the winner by two points. The large crowd worked itself into a frenzy, and largely because of this, large crowds enjoyed most of the season's games.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

KNEELING—Donald Proctor, Manager.

Because there were so many out for basketball, Mr. Thompson maintained two squads. The Junior Varsity performed creditably in a number of games throughout the season, and from their showing, it may be predicted that many of them will be promoted to the varsity ranks next year.

To Captain Hamilton, Theodore, Gassman, Loux, and Manager Maltby, go our best wishes and regards. May each one be as successful in life as he has been with basketball.

Girls' Basketball Team

We take this opportunity to give to the girls' basketball team their just honors and much deserved credit.

The Matamoras High School is proud of this team, and they have reason to be for the team has gone through the season with the flying colors of victory. They are known as "the team that's hard to beat."

With the co-operation of all the members on the team, each an excellent player, the team has done what other teams have failed to do in the past.

Shirley Scales, an outstanding forward, along with Drechsler and Taynton as helpers in the forward position, and Evelyn Josd, known as "Tiger," and her two companion guards, Shewchuck and Braird, the team has gone places.

We must not forget the subs, who in the future will soon be another hard team to conquer. This year the subs have aided the varsity team surprisingly well.

We regret to say that at graduation time the team will lose their capable manager, Thelma Adams, who has served her position for the past two years. but we feel sure that Shirley Kelder, who filled the position of assistant manager this year, will fill the position of manager equally well.

Next year, the team will have a new coach. We hope this coach will prove as successful as Miss Gordon, who with her utmost ability has served the team for the past three years. It is with regret that the girls bid adieu to Miss Gordon; but it will be with zest and vigor that the girls will continue the winning streak inspired by her.

BASEBALL

"Play ball," yells the umpire, and another successful season is started by the Matamoras High School Baseball Team.

Six veterans and thirty other men, who have shown up well in actual practice, reported the first day. As the season rolled along, the team took shape. Batteries: Deegan and McDonald, Mager and Briard. Frank Loux, the slim Senior, covers first base. "Cliff" Blackman, an expert bunter, holds down second. "Muscle Man" Theodore, last year's leading batter, plays third. All balls which manage to stray past the infield will be gathered in by "Ed" Tuthill, "Dick" Proctor, and "Ray" Prey. Harry Youngs does a swell job as the chattering shortstop.

The team wishes to express their appreciation to Mr. Woodley, who has devoted his time toward making this year a successful season. To Jack Clarke, who has managed the team faithfully and efficiently, goes the gratitude of all. And to James Deegan our everlasting thanks. "Jim," who has been ace hurler on the "Varsity" for four years, leaves by way of the graduation route. When, at the end of the '36 season, Deegan was elected captain of this year's team, he took the mound for Matamoras and pitched his third no-hit game against Milford.

The games this year were with teams of no mean ability. At the time of this writing, only three games have been played, and it seems practically impossible to get the schedule of the remaining games as a few schools are slow in accepting the challenges.

TRACK

The members of the 1937 Track Team began track and field work early in the season. The team has enjoyed a pleasant and successful year under the direction of Mr. Woodley as Coach.

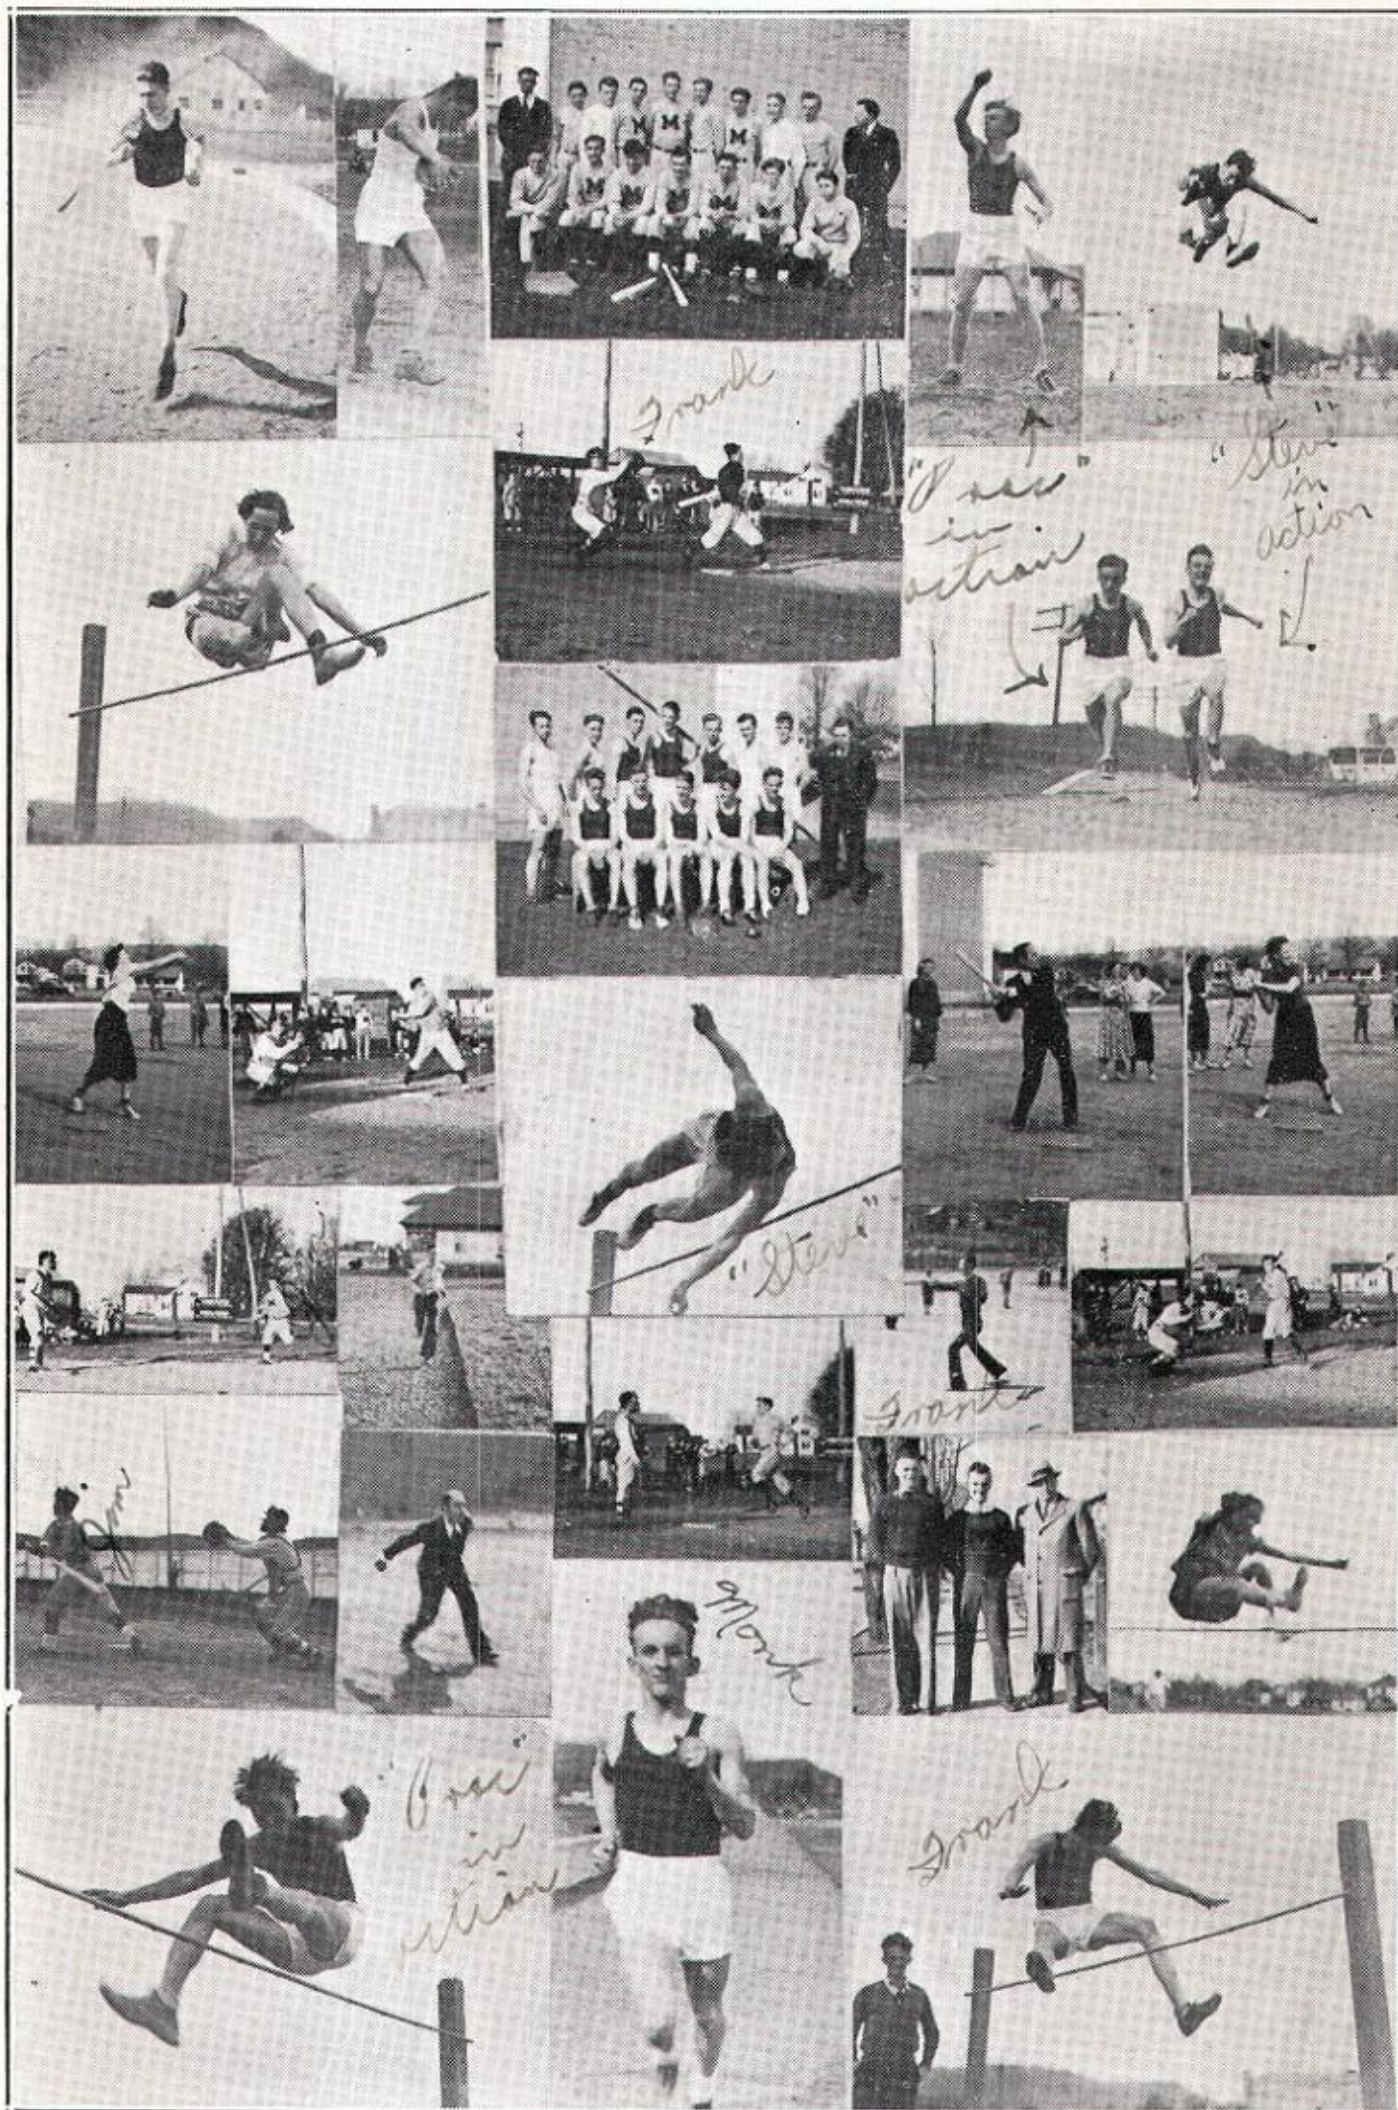

Some of the outstanding men of the year were Capt. Blackman, the brilliant mile and half miler. "Bob" Mager, the only aspirant from the Sophomore Class became a powerful little man for the mile event. "Jim" Deegan another 880 man has also brought new laurels to M. H. S. "Dick" Proctor was considered the best all around man in track and field events. "Bob" Fowler was a capable manager and discus thrower. "Steve" Hagadorn was a most spectacular track man in the 440, 880, and the running broad jump. Frank Loux starred as a pole vaulter for the entire season. Raymond Prey and Jack Bullock were Matamoras' best dash men. "Ed" Tuthill was our leading man for the 220. "Ray" Lyons has also starred in the 880. George Gordon gave us results to be remembered in the discus event.

Manager Fowler, a very busy man during the season did much to promote the success of a brilliant season in track for our high school.

Meets were held with Otisville, Narrowsburg, Milford, Walden, Eldred, Port Jervis, Green-Dreher, and Hamburg.

SENIOR PLAY CAST, "DRUMS OF DEATH"

DRAMATICS

It has seemed in our two years of play production that we have favored tragic plots. Our first attempt in our Junior year was in the form of three one-act plays. "Submerged" was a tragedy of the sea, starring all boys. "Two Hundred Riders" was a story of the old west and also ended tragically. "White Glory" was a war story, also one of sacrifice in the end.

We chose three plays because we thought they would give more of the members of the class a chance to appear on the stage. The plays, under the direction of William G. Clark, proved to be very successful. Although we did not have a record breaking crowd, all who were there went away satisfied.

This year, remembering how well tragedies were received last year, we again chose a play with an unhappy ending, entitled "Drums of Death." Quite a few of our last year's stars again appeared. Success was also due to the helpful appearance of Gene Carpenter, who co-operated with us in every way, in the role of the young son in the play. This play was also directed by Mr. Clark, with the assistance of William Sadler.

These gentlemen know our feelings of appreciation and in leaving M. H. S. it is our hope that the spirit of success will continue with the productions of these two well qualified directors.

CLUBS

Clubs as used in our school are an essential part of the well rounded curriculum of every high school student. The nature of the clubs sponsored is broad in interest. As nearly as possible the faculty sponsors of these organizations keep away from the theoretical viewpoint as emphasized in the class room. The tendency is toward the practical side of life, with a real attempt being made to have each student in the system work at something he enjoys doing for at least one hour each two weeks.

At the beginning of the school year, the students are allowed to select the clubs to which they desire membership. Each year new clubs are added in favor of those in which the students are losing interest. At the first meeting of the club in the fall, officers are elected and from then on, the success of the club depends entirely upon what the faculty sponsors and the students put into the work of the club.

This year our clubs have been particularly successful. Much beneficial work has been done in these club periods by the students in forms which they did not recognize as work.

The following clubs were organized this year: Journalism, Chess, Booklover's, Camera, Music, Artcraft, Science, and Handicraft.

News of the school, both good and bad, was reported throughout the year in the Journal which was sponsored by the Journalism Club. Messrs. Thompson and Clark were the sponsors of the club. Reporters and staff assistants were from the students of the school, each of whom did the work of an employee of a larger paper.

The Sponsor of the Chess Club is Mr. Heberlig. All of the club periods during the year were devoted to playing chess, either match games or friendly games. The chess champs are Fontana and Colaiaco. Checkers were also played during this period.

Good books are enjoyed by all. One can travel and lead an adventurous life through good literature. The Booklover's Club, sponsored by Miss Seese, who has read several books during the year in club periods, has enjoyed a successful season.

Developing future Newtons and Einsteins is the purpose of the Science Club. Many complicated and difficult experiments are carried on by this valuable club under the direction of Mr. Woodley.

"Music hath charm to soothe the savage beast," and when the girls, under the direction of Miss Speidel, blend their harmonious voices in song, we are all soothed. This Club has been very successful, having put on several performances.

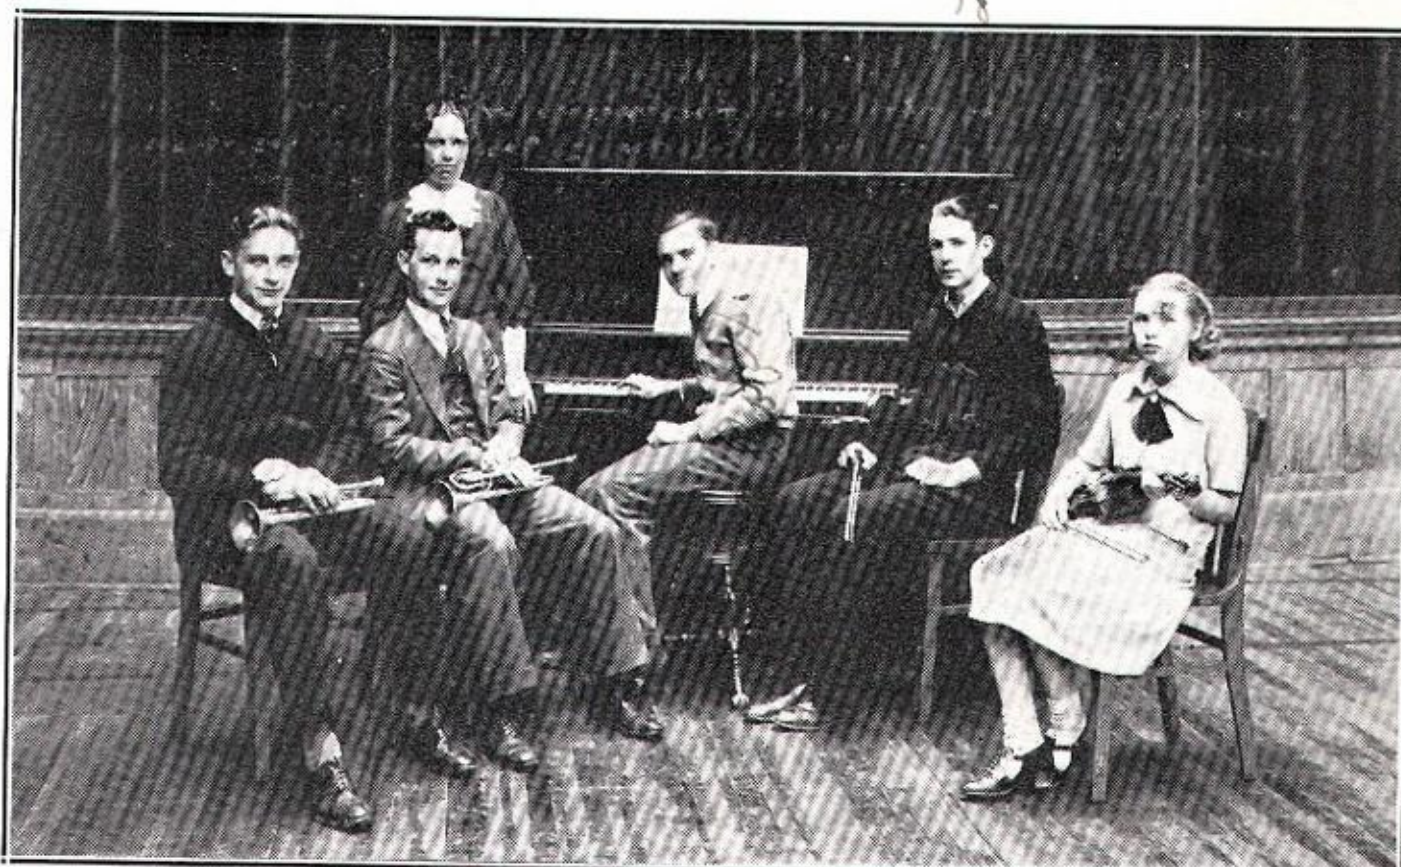

The Artcraft Club has been under the able leadership of Miss Brosnan. The members have had many enjoyable times by going on picnics. They have made many pretty and useful articles. Everyone in the club has had an eventful year, and many have hopes of rejoining again next year. Although this Club was just organized this year, it was so well received by the students that it is sure to continue for many years.

This year a new club opened up in our school under the sponsorship of Mr. Krause. It took and developed many pictures under the supervision of Mr. George Gordon, noted photographer. The club has brought much interest in photography. The members of the club have had a very enjoyable season, and we feel that the sponsor, Mr. Krause, deserves a great deal of credit.

The Handicraft Club has helped each of its members, throughout the year, by making baskets and other useful articles. This has been the work accomplished by this Club under the sponsorship of Miss Gordon.

With this variety of clubs, it is no wonder that each of the students finds some club of particular interest. The activity afforded by these organizations is just another reason why we pause before saying our adieu.

SITTING—George Gordon, Mr. Heberlig, Robert Schafer, Frank Loux, Mary Williams, STANDING—Miss Speidel (Director).

ORCHESTRA

Introducing to you, the finest musical organization in our school, the Orchestra. Under the supervision of Miss Speidel and Mr. Heberlig, the orchestra has gone places this year. Every Tuesday morning we are welcomed in assembly by their thrilling marches.

Little does one realize the work necessary to make the orchestra a success. The members must be experts with their instruments, they must practice one song until perfect, which takes faithful preparation and they must be able to play at any time. Surely we owe a debt of gratitude to the orchestra.

Frank Loux, who has diligently served in the orchestra for six years, leaves because of graduation. The sweet notes of his violin combining with the strains of the others will be missed by all.

However, the others will be left to carry on the fine work and the school sincerely hopes the orchestra will be bigger and better than ever during the next year. The members are:

Director	Miss Speidel
Trumpets	Mr. Heberlig, George Gordon
Violins	Frank Loux, Mary Williams
Piano	Robert Schafer

MARCH OF TIME

Feb. 1, 1918. The first member of the Class of '37 was born. This was our "fickle" Thelma Maude.

Feb. 6, 1919. Just one year, six days later our car manufacturer, Turner, had his father pacing the floor.

April 21, 1919. "Dick" Schroeder's heart beat a little faster. Your's would too if your wife was just born. Of course we mean Marilyn.

May 16, 1919. The Little town of Crawford, Nebraska, heard upon this day a loud wailing. This wailing is the same we hear to-day when "Louxie" plays his fiddle.

June 7, 1919. Miss Thelma Adams falls in love. Meeting baby carriage to baby carriage, she fell for "Lew" Taynton.

Sept. 28, 1919. Monday, wash day, but no wash on the Schneider line, that was the day "Beatie" was born.

Sept. 30, 1919. The giant of this class made his debut to the world on this lovely fall afternoon. In Irvington, N. J., Paul Struthers gladly bought cigars for the crowd.

Oct. 1, 1919. Turner Blackman had his hair cut to-day. His father took the scissors to the straggling lock by his right ear.

Oct. 2, 1919. "Keiter ain't in now, come back later." Those were the first words of the little darling, Donald Maltby.

Nov. 4, 1919. Little Thelma wore her first silk dress, but rubberized pants were worn underneath.

Nov. 19, 1919. On this memorial day Quincy Gassman first saw the light of day. His first words were "Gals, I'm here."

Dec. 8, 1919. Edwin Strait, the orator of our class, talked the stork into dropping him in Matamoras so that he might be in the Class of '37.

Dec. 17, 1919. In a small cabin in Spring Valley, a small bundle of joy came into the world in the person of little Eugenia Johnson.

March 7, 1920. In the small hamlet of Port Jervis, across the river, Marjorie was born. She is reputedly the best looking girl born in that section.

July 2, 1920. On the road out of Middletown, on this day, all cars were stopped before a modest little cottage. There "Ed" Tuthill our "mad" scientist was born.

May 1, 1920. Helen Rusk receives her first set of dolls. From that time to this, they have been her constant companions.

May 17, 1921. On this day our valedictorian was born. Pauline is the youngest member of the class.

July 21, 1923. Arnold Hamilton stole a piece of candy from Thelma. Edwin Strait represented the defendant and won his first case.

Dec. 1, 1923. Beatrice got a permanent. Since that day her hair has always been "kinky."

Sept. 6, 1925. Donald Maltby came to school. He wore short pants and a "Buster Brown" collar.

January 18, 1928. "Bob" Struthers spent his first day in the Matamoras High School. He came here from Milford.

Sept. 12, 1929. Ralph Gassman joined the ranks of our class. The big sissy had a Southern accent.

CLASS POEM

The long awaited time has come
And graduation day draws nigh,
For twelve long years we've studied hard,
We're leaving Matamoras High.

We hate to leave but forward look
To many happy hours ahead
The future is an opened book
With many pages to be read.

The dear old school we leave behind
Wherein we learned our A B C's
Will always linger in the mind

Among our treasured memories.
We're going forth as pioneers
Of days long past went, all alone
Into a trackless wilderness:
Into a life as yet unknown.

To blaze a trail across the years
To leave a mark on soil untrod
Which, whether it be large or small,
Cannot escape the eye of God.

We've been classmates together for many a year,
Now the time has come to part,
But before we go, let's recall each name
To impress it on each other's heart.

First is a girl with wavy brown hair
Thelma, our basketball manager fair,
In the "Inquirer" you've seen her face and name,
With the basketball team she helped to fame.

The second, of his own volition
Decided upon his life's ambition,
Turner's going to reach the top
And be a motorcycle cop.

Marjorie, if given the chance
Could show Eleanor Powell how to dance,
But all because of a certain guy,
She likes to watch the Fords go by.

Who doesn't remember the no-hit game
That was pitched in '36,
When Matamoras beat the socks
Off the Milford hicks?
'Twas Deegan, my lads, who did this deed
With a master's control and lightning speed,
And the first thing we knew, in letters big,
We'll see, "Deegan—Star of the Baseball League."

Next comes the boy from the Lone Star State
A basketball star and a lover great
Ralph's going back to his native land
To date the girls by the Rio Grande.

At basketball games, who took the picture,
Of pep and vitality all in a mixture,
"Beef" was our basketball captain and star
At rolling up points he'll sure go far.

Eugenia, it has oft been said
Won't look at trucks unless they're red,
If you wonder why, the name is Roy,
Her one and only darling boy.

Class Poem (continued)

Frank, is the bachelor of the class,
It is said he's snubbed many a lass
But when it comes to playing the fiddle,
Frank's right there with his High-Diddle-Diddle.

In a humble drugstore, he made his start,
In chemical research, he did his part.
This scion of the Maltby line
Will evermore in history shine.

In the class of '37 there's a certain brunette,
Who never had her picture in the "Pink Police Gazette,"
But Ida doesn't mind as long as she can "Wahoo,"
On the streets of Milford with her "Drugstore Buckaroo."

Marilyn is the cute, little flirt,
Who's often seen with Simpson's clerk,
She also has plenty of charm
And at stealing "Dick's" heart,
She's done no harm.

Helen joined our class in '36,
From the East Stroudsburg sticks,
Many a lad has favored "Rusty,"
But, alas, she still sticks to her husky.

"Bob" Struthers, the Clark Gable of our class,
Has danced the night through with many a lass
And when it comes to style, he sets a pace
Which no one has ever dared to race.

Who shall it be "Tom," "Dick," or "Harry,"
That will be the one that "Beatie" will marry?
Dark eyed darling with raven locks,
Who has put many a lad on the rocks.

Who is the Romeo of the class?
Who is it that always finds a new lass?
You have guessed it, it is "Art,"
Who is always playing tag with Cupid's Dart.

"Tut" is the businessman of the class,
His heart did throb for some cute little lass,
But now that she's given him the air,
"Tut" has gone mad and keeps pulling his hair.

Here's one of those students you hear about but seldom set,
The kind that works and meets each task faithfully,
Pauline, validictorian, has worked hard for that name,
An honored student, who will rise to fame.

A mighty master of oration
Bound to rise to some high station,
And be a criminal lawyer great,
That's the ambition of Edwin Strait.

And so I have come to the end of my story,
Of a class who gained much through fame and through glory,
We are leaving behind us, our friends so true,
But, alas, it is only proper that we bid you adieu.

PROPHECY

One day while my friend and I were shopping in New York City, we met other friends who talked enthusiastically about a wonderful crystal gazer. Why she was the most uncanny person they had ever seen. They finally coaxed my friend and me to go. When we got there, I was ushered in first. We sat down in a small dark room. A telephone rang and the crystal gazer excused herself. When she left, I gazed at the crystal ball, situated on the table. I decided to look into it, just for the fun of it. For a moment I couldn't see anything. Suddenly, I seemed to see objects forming before my eyes. I leaned closer and peered into the ball. A figure came into view. Why it was Thelma Adams, and she was designing a hat in exclusive surroundings which looked like a Paris Hat Shop. Strangely enough, I never knew she had left the country.

The scene shifted, and I saw a gorgeous home. The next instant I saw Marjorie Bloom walking across a large beautiful lawn. I soon saw that she had married and was now the wife of a half-owner of the Ford Industry. The scene faded away.

In its place, I could make out a baseball diamond. A white obstacle flew into view—a baseball. Who threw that? I looked closely at the pitcher's plate. There stood James Deegan, one of the best baseball players in his High School days. So he had gotten into the World Series at last.

The next scene puzzled me for a moment but not for long. For there on a soap box, in front of a large audience stood Ralph Gassman. It looked as though he were trying to sell something. On closer observation, I saw he was selling his latest book on "How to Make Love During the Teen Age."

The next scene proved to be the interior of the White Horse Tavern on the Great Milky Way. There in the orchestra, I recognized two familiar figures, Frank Loux, still playing the violin, and Arthur Theodore, leading the band. Frank had taken on considerable weight. Arthur had not changed, though it seemed strange to see him waving a baton.

The scene shifted. It took the form of a white operating room. Beside the surgeon, stood a tall, slim nurse. Then I saw that she was quietly and efficiently passing the instruments to the surgeon. The nurse proved to be none other than Beatrice Snyder.

The next view that came to my vision was a store in the business section of a large city. Inside were the modern equipments of a large drug store. I then saw some man waiting on a customer. I looked closer, and who should it be but Donald Maltby, now a prosperous druggist. Why I remember that he worked in a drug store while in high school.

The crystal became blurry again, but it soon cleared up and before my eyes I could see a broad highway. Traveling down it at a terrific rate of speed was a small coupe and right behind it a motorcycle cop. I soon saw that the cop was Turner Blackman. He stopped the car and the driver was none other than Edward Tuthill, now a newspaper reporter, hurrying to take pictures of a horrible accident.

The scene shifted to the Pike County Court House at Milford. Before the jury stood Edwin Strait, making a speech. It did not surprise me for I had always thought he would be a lawyer some day. Who was that he was defending? Why, it was Pauline Toussaint suing James Naylor for breach of promise. It seemed so strange for a school teacher to be doing that.

The scene faded into view. In its place, I managed to make out a private business office. Seated at the desk was Robert Struthers now the proprietor of three large hotels. Close by, I recognized Eugenia Johnson, his private secretary, typing away at her usual rate of speed. Eugenia had always been a speed typist.

PROPHECY (Continued)

Before my vision again I could see what looked like the studio of a photographer. And who should the photographer be, but Arnold Hamilton. I'd know him any place. But I noticed he was taking pictures of two little children. Beside them stood a tall dark-haired girl. I then saw that it was Helen Rusk, now a governess of these children. Well she had always liked children.

The next scene which appeared before my eyes was a cute little tea shop. I could see that it was a very popular place by the number of people inside. I could see then that the person who owned it was Ida Petito, one of my old classmates.

Suddenly, the picture faded away and to my great disappointment, it did not reappear again. It then dawned on me that I had seen the future of all my classmates. The future had been unfolded before my very eyes. The crystal had revealed to me what I, perhaps, might have never known. A moment later, the crystal gazer entered the room. I don't know whether I had been dreaming or not, but whatever it was, I enjoyed every moment of it tremendously.

Prophecy on the Prophet

As a friend and I were walking on Fifth Avenue, we passed a fashionable dress salon where a style show was in progress. My companion was attracted to this display of the newest gowns and models and suggested that we go in. I at first objected as I had a business engagement that was too important to miss. My friend, however, insisted and finally we came to an agreement. I, being a man, could only give way. We visited the fashion show. Upon entering we were escorted to a booth, where we were soon joined by a very beautiful, alluring and prosperous looking young lady—Miss Marilyn Riggs. While I was too surprised to talk, I was informed that Marilyn had come to the city, adopted the name Madame Fifi and by a stroke of good luck had become the proprietress of the most exclusive dress establishment in New York. Marilyn had acquired quite a fortune from the world-famous costumes that she designed for the currently popular movie actresses and as a result was now entertained in the best social circles in New York. We stayed discussing our school days for so long that I did miss my business engagement, but I was very happy that I had found that one of my former classmates had made such a success of her life.

CLASS WILL

Ladies and Gentlemen, Members of the Board of Education, Principal, Faculty,
Students and Friends:

On behalf of my client, the Class of 1937 of the Matamoras High School, I have called you together on this solemn and serious occasion to witness her last will and testament, and to receive from her dying hand the few gifts she has so graciously bestowed in her last moments.

The Class of '37 in eighteen individual and distinct parts, feel that it is their duty and obligation to leave behind some of their most valuable assets which have been acquired during their last years in high school. They, therefore, being of sound mind and of memory fit for disposing, do make and publish this, their last will and testament.

To any Freshman who has a Motherly disposition, Helen Rusk leaves her fine set of dolls with instructions when to feed, clothe, and bathe the little ones.

To the Matamoras Girls' Basketball Team, the Senior girls present their book entitled "How Not to Play Basketball."

To August Colaiaco, "Ed" Strait bequeathes his unsurpassable eloquence in public speaking and debating.

"Bob" Struthers donates his masterpiece, "How to Become a Brute" to Douglas Harrington.

To the future valedictorian of the Junior Class, Pauline Toussaint presents one of her report cards, with a note attached, which reads: "Try and beat it."

Thelma Adams confers her position as Manager of the Girls' Basketball Team to Shirley Kelder, and to Constance Talmadge a booklet on "How to Make Fudge."

To Emerson Rigo, Beatrice Snyder grants her seat in Study Hall, so that the faculty may have more opportunities to catch him in the act of chewing gum and whispering.

Marjorie Bloom entrusts to Shirley Scales her prize winning essay on "How to Kill Your Husband With Your Cooking."

To Mary Williams, Frank Loux leaves a picture of Rubinoff and his violin so that she may practice more diligently and help Miss Speidel to turn out better Assembly Programs.

Arthur Theodore donates to the Seventh Grade Girls a picture of himself, in order that they may long remember his everlasting and true love for them.

Eugenia Johnson bequeathes to Irene Miller, Helen Quick, and Edna Purdue, a new edition of her booklet entitled, "How to Reduce."

Marilyn Riggs leaves to Shirley Lipshitz her novel entitled, "How to Entertain and Interest Your Beau in the Evening."

Donald Maltby presents to Harry Youngs his position as Manager of the Basketball Team and also his knack of making the teachers smile when in the class room.

Ida Petito offers to Thelma Clark a picture of Robert Taylor, in order to prove that the boys in Matamoras aren't so good looking after all.

Our "T. L." Blackman (maker of the "Blacky" eights, nines, and tens) presents to "Bob" Purcell his short story on "Driving."

To George Gordon, "Ed" Tuthill bequeathes his book on "Photography," so that George may be able to develop the Senior snapshots next year.

"Beef" Hamilton offers his seat in Miss Seese's room to Betty Kubler so that her gum-chewing will stop.

Our proud president, Ralph Gassman, leaves to Cornelius Granger, his pet bobby-pin and also a booklet on, "The Port Jervis Girls."

Signed, Sworn, and Sealed, this fourth day of June, One Thousand Nine Hundred Thirty-seven A. D.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '37

Graduation time has arrived, and we have reached the goal for which we have so earnestly striven. Now we must part from these never-to-be-forgotten halls of fame and go out into the world to seek our fortunes.

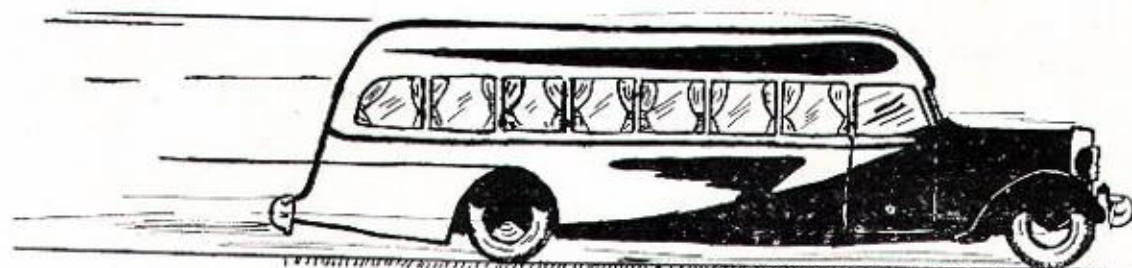

It was four years ago when we entered into these halls of fame and received the name of Freshmen. It was at this time that we entered upon a new undertaking. We had all of the traits of true Freshmen, who spent very much of their time in their studies, and were relieved when vacation time came. This year we looked up to our superiors, the Seniors, and envied them with all of our hearts, thinking how we would feel and act when we became Seniors. At the beginning of the year, we had twenty-six members in our class, but later during the year, to our great disappointment, four members left us, but to make up for part of the loss, one member joined our ranks. During the year, Mr. Keim guided us and did all he possibly could to show us the many things we had to learn and accomplish during years in high school. Although we were only Freshmen and quite new at the game, we displayed our athletic ability on Varsity Teams. At the end of this year, all managed with much hard work to successfully make the next step in our high school career. We were now looking forward with much anxiety to the next year when we would be Sophomores.

Time soon passed, and when the school bell rang the following fall, fourteen members composed the class roll. During the year, four new members entered our class: Eugenia Johnson, Irvine DeRemer, Loretta Horton, and George Dennis, making a total of eighteen members in the class. This year we received the names of "Scrappy Sophomores" and occupied the Commercial room. Mr. Bruce faithfully served us as our home room teacher this year. Most of us were accustomed to the type of work that had to be done and decided to settle down and do our studies with the best of our ability. The activity we undertook during this year was the selling of programs at field day. This proved to be a success as did most of the other activities we undertook in high school. Before the year was ended, two members left our class, leaving the total of sixteen members. This year proved to be a bigger and better year than did the previous one, with many of the members entering the track, basketball, and baseball teams. So we, the "Scrappy Sophomores," were looking forward very eagerly to becoming the so-called "Dignified Juniors."

With confidence and determination in our minds, we entered upon the third step of the ladder. At the beginning of the year, three new members entered our class: Elsie Hipsman, Robert Struthers, and Robert Purcell; our class roll thus increased from the membership of eighteen to twenty-one. This year we welcomed into our midst a new teacher, Mr. Thompson, who proved himself capable and faithful to our school. As soon as it was possible, the class was organized and our business began. The first great event of this year was the selecting of a play. After a few weeks of discussion, we decided to present three one-act plays as this had not been done for some time in the past. Everyone was excited about presenting our first play because it was our first opportunity to show our dramatic ability. The date for the play was set for November 22. The plays proved to be very successful. The next event was the ordering of class pins. They were ordered, and we anxiously awaited the arrival of the pins. Many times our class meeting had to be stopped, and Miss Seese, our home room teacher for the year, brought out her book on how to conduct a proper business meeting and presented it to the class. But we took it cheerfully, and we were very grateful to her the following year for showing us this book. During this year, we ranked first during every six week period of the year, an honor which no other class, I believe, has ever attained.

At last we had reached the last step of the ladder, we had received the full responsibilities of Seniors. At this time we welcomed into our school another new teacher, Mr. Woodley, who also proved himself an asset to the school. When our class was organized, our business began, orders were sent out for some candy. Yes, the Seniors were going to sell candy again this year. In a few weeks' time, our thoughts were centered on the preparation of the Harvest Ball, which was the first real event of the year. The plans were made, and the members of the class decorated the auditorium in orange and black. With the capable direction of Miss Seese, this proved to be a success. Early in November we decided to give a play, "Drums of Death," which was directed by Mr. Clark and proved to be a huge success. Much credit for the success of this play must be given to Gene Carpenter, who willingly accepted a part in the play and worked diligently and co-operated with us in every way. Our rings were ordered next, and in December, the Seniors could be seen flashing their rings around. Shortly after this, we started planning of the year book. Our next move was the Senior Prom. After many hours of discussion, we decided to decorate the auditorium in a way entirely different from what other classes had done previously. We decided to decorate it in the form of a vineyard and call it "The Vine Yard Ballroom." Although everyone had a delightful time, we knew the time was coming nearer and nearer to graduation. Time was passing rapidly, the biggest events were yet to come—Commencement and Graduation. All were busy writing and re-writing their parts for the Class Night and Commencement Exercises and making plans for the future.

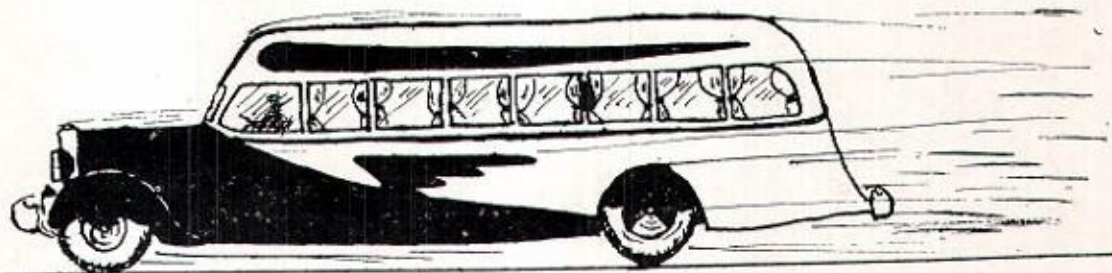

Four years ago as Freshmen we stepped into the ranks of the High School classes. Then, we thought tonight would never come. In just a few more days, we shall make a larger step. We shall step forth into a world where as Freshmen in a newer school of life, we shall ponder the destiny of ourselves four years hence.

THE 1937

SCANDAL

Only one person knows the author of this page. If anyone has an inkling as to who the said author is, they are hereby warned that they are not to talk or even murmur in their sleep about the matter. This notice is given because the finances of the Seniors are sadly depleted, and as the class is going to Washington, it is in no state to be sued for libel. The purpose of this page is to bring out old memories and highlights of things that really happened during our, the Seniors, last year in school, and is herewith respectfully submitted. As Mr. Clark would say, "If the shoe fits, wear it."

"Jim" Deegan stopped going with Mary Senkiw after the first six weeks of school and as a result has been on the honor roll ever since.

Turner Blackman was in his prime during the second six weeks of school. "Deitz" Bond was also in this category, but they have since fallen by the wayside as lovers. Their successors at this stage of the game seems to be Homer Buchanan and "Bob" Schafer.

About this time June Cole, Nancy Fowler, Betty Warner, and Shirley Cutler started rushing two Senior basketball heroes.

During the Christmas and New Year's vacation many things happened. Shirley Lipshitz had a party at which all inebriated were kicked out. Broken noses, broken furniture, people fighting with each other and with telephone poles were common scenes that night. The ringleaders were Shirley Lipshitz and that Scales girl aided by the gang.

Basketball season was in full swing. Some of the boys insisted on going out after practice, over to the skating rink and other well known places.

Thelma Adams gives "Lew" Taynton the air and has fallen hard for "Beef" Hamilton. Also at about this time, Harry Youngs gets his driver's license and takes Vivian's V-8 all around. It is alleged that Vivian has many smiles for Harry and vice versa.

George Gordon and Margaret Schroeder are still deeply in love with each other. It is rumored they will be middle-aisling it soon.

Baseball and track are main athletic events at present time. Boys can start breaking training rules any time now.

"Hank" DeRemer is back to M. H. S. and feminine hearts are beating faster, but "Hank" has eyes for Helen Rusk only.

We are told the only reason "Bob" Finlay went with Evelyn Hennel is because she makes good fudge.

Pauline Toussaint has a mix up over who is to escort her to the "Prom." "Jim" Naylor, a city slicker, won out over "Doc" Maltby, the home town boy.

Eugenia Johnson has the most romantic romance of the current year with Roy Snyder, a brawny truck driver.

Rumor has it that Bertha Dreschler breaks faith with "Roddy" Kesting often and will go out with any good looking boy, like "Monk" Mager, for instance.

The gold-dust twins, Gassman and Theodore, are seen hoofing it over to West End every night. The attractions are named Josephine and Dorothy Morris.

Love has at last entered "Ob" Fontana's cold heart. Her name? Olive Corwin.

School is about out and the biggest scandal of all is that eighteen rogues have been released from the institution of learning and were caught running away from school, madly clutching their diplomas.

It is sincerely hoped that you have enjoyed reading this page and that it may recall incidents that are treasures to you.

DAY BY DAY

- Sept. 8—The first day of school, and a Senior is sent out of assembly.
- Sept. 9—Mr. Clark surprised us by giving us the first test we have had.
- Sept. 10—Strait was so eager to send for plays he wanted them sent for immediately, if not sooner.
- Sept. 12—Miss Brosnan wrote on study hall blackboard, "Any student leaving books in Room 17 will be charged two cents a day tax for storage."
- Sept. 14—Decided on a play.
- Sept. 15—James Deegan broke all records by making a flat A in English.
- Sept. 17—Seniors ready to sell candy.
- Sept. 19—Started rehearsals for our play, "Drums of Death."
- Sept. 20—Helen Rusk: "I have no idea for my paragraph."
- Mr. Clark: "Write about Gassman."
- Helen: "Do you want a paragraph or a sentence?"
- Sept. 21—Ralph Gassman: "It took me 30 minutes to think of an idea for a paragraph."
- Mr. Clark: "What, the Great Gassman?"
- Sept. 23—Mr. Woodley: (While drawing on the blackboard) "I told you I wasn't a born artist, but Oh! Boy! you should have seen me when I was little."
- Sept. 23—Today Ralph Gassman almost had his face slapped by Pauline, but Mr. Clark intervened.
- Oct. 1—Everyone has a nervous look on his face. Day before the play.
- Oct. 5—"Honorable Seniors much relieved and much happy," over success of play "Drums of Death."
- Oct. 8—"Bob" Struthers: "You don't realize that I have to work in school."
- Miss Seese: "Yes, but you haven't tried it yet."
- Oct. 9—Somebody stole the Bible that was in study hall. This must stop.
- Oct. 12—August C. was trying to catch flies in music class when Mr. Sadler said, "It's all right, you can eat them, it's not Friday."
- Oct. 13—While in Chemistry class, Mr. Woodley gave an answer to a question as, "I'll show you after a while, some day."
- Oct. 14—Ralph Gassman: "The suspense is killing me."
- Pauline Toussaint: "That's all right, keep it up."
- Oct. 15—Arthur Theodore while giving a report on surgery proclaimed that today they now open up the stomach and perform delicate operations on the brain.
- Oct. 16—A Senior is stopped in the hall by Miss Seese for talking so loud. She complained because the person didn't talk loud enough in class.
- Oct. 17—In Latin Class while writing a sentence, Harry Youngs asked Miss Seese if the verb, fui, was right. Miss Seese said "Phooey" was right, (but it happened to be wrong.)
- Oct. 18—Mr. Heberlig, in Trig. Class: "My, wouldn't Frank and Crawford enjoy themselves if we had a sand table built for them."
- Oct. 21—Ralph Gassman: "I wouldn't go with but one girl from Matamoras and she doesn't live in Matamoras."
- Oct. 22—During physical education class, we were taking a walk down the back road when Vivian Bode was so occupied with the mountains above her, she walked right into a truck.
- Oct. 23—Mr. Heberlig, talking about a new subject, "This law of cosines is hard, later on we'll discard it."
- August C.: "Why not now?"
- Oct. 24—Edward Tuthill doing a problem at the blackboard suddenly fell down with a chair on top of him.
- Mr. Heberlig: "That's what you get when you stay out too late nights."
- "Ed": "Nah, that's what the power of concentration does to you."
- Oct. 26—Today the new hair-ribbon fad started.
- Oct. 27—Ralph Gassman, while talking about a girl: "She smiled at me this morning, too."
- Mr. Clark: "Well that's nice, but I've had a lot of them laugh at me."

TO OUR ADVERTISERS

During the time we have been putting out our Class Book, we have come in contact with many difficulties and responsibilities. They have been overcome by the generosity of these business men and women. They have been true friends, and so, we leave all of our thanks for their co-operation with us in helping to make our book a success. Don't think that we will forget these friends who have been so willing to help.

As they have co-operated with us by making investments in us, so may you co-operate with them by giving them your heartiest support.
